WOULD NOT LIVE THREE MONTHS"

Mr. Harold W. Schmidt, Box 98, Breese, Clinton Co., Ill., believes he has reason to praise Dr. Hartman's Remedy for Catarrhal conditions.

"I had Pneumonia eight months for Chyphus Catarrhal. I had a grippe for four months and a great, an six months over normal weight and able to work every day. In March, 1910, I came home with a grippe with asthma and lost my voice. They said I would not live three months. After taking a couple of boxes of Pe-Ru-Na and a box of Marconi Tablets, I gained in seven months weight back to work. My trouble was due to Chyphus Catarrhal. I am now normal, which I had two years, extracting them into the bronchial tubes. Pe-Ru-Na was my life saver."

The prisoner was being cross-examined by counsel for the prosecution, when the judge interrupted.

"You say you dined at the Hotel Metro. What did you partake of?"

The prisoner turned to reply.

"Beefsteak, my lord," he said.

The judge looked stern.

"On your oath?" he said.

"No, my lord," he said, "on a plate."

RADIO

MARCONI REALLY FATHER OF RADIO

Story of the Gifted Italian's Work in Development of Air Communication.

While experiments along the line of radio really started as far back as 1873 and hundreds of scientists were interested in solving the problems involved for many years, it was not until 1890 when Senator Guglielmo Marconi took out his first patent that the mystery of air communication got its first great impetus. His life history is to all practical intents the history of radio communication.

Senatore Guglielmo Marconi, G. C. V. O., L. L. D., D.Sc., M. I. E. E., was born in Bologna, Italy, April 25, 1874. His mother was Irish, while his father was of a family whose mechanical ability was marked. After an education at Leghorn and Bologna, the young man interested himself in the problem of wireless telegraphy, starting his research in 1895. He went to England and in 1896 took out the first patent ever granted for a practical system of wireless telegraphy, by the use of electric waves. His early experiments in England were made at Westbourne Park. Shortly afterward Marconi saw W. H. Preece and at his request made some experiments for officials of the post office. Some further experiments were made in May, 1897, in the Bristol channel, wireless communication being established between Lavernock and Brean Down, a distance of nine miles.

On the invitation of the Italian government Marconi afterward went to Spezia where a land station was erected, which was kept in constant communication with two Italian battleships working from a distance of 12 miles. For this success the Italian government conferred upon Marconi the honor of knighthood. After a return to England further experiments were conducted and on July 20, 1897, the first radio company was formed and two permanent stations erected. In 1898 wireless reports of yacht races in Kingston were made and proved the usefulness and adaptability to which the system lends itself.

While the sets are used chiefly for pleasure and exercise, they are being put to practical uses in many cases. Numerous farmers are receiving services at the disposal of King Victor and was given the rank of Lieutenant in the Italian army. He was employed on important military missions to England by the Italian government and after this service was transferred as temporary commander in the Italian navy. Marconi visited the United States in 1917 as member of the official mission sent by Italy. In 1919 Marconi was appointed plenipotentiary delegate to the peace conference at Paris, and in this capacity signed the peace treaty with Austria and Bulgaria. He was afterward awarded the Italian military cross.
